AIDS Case Management and Home Care Program

The AIDS Case Management and Home Care Programs help clients improve their quality of life by providing medical and psycho-social services, including home care. Services offered range from assessment and treatment planning to grocery shopping and meal preparation.

CASE MANAGEMENT

Case Management is a system of assessment, planning, service procurement, delivery, coordination, and monitoring through which a client's multiple service needs are met. Case Management optimizes the client's self-care capability, promotes efficient use of resources and stimulates the creation of new services.

HOME CARE

Home Health Attendants prepare and serve meals, assist with personal hygiene, accompany client's to medical appointments, and monitor client progress. Homemakers provide grocery shopping, meal preparation and maintain household areas as needed.

STAFF

The program is staffed by highly trained Nurse Case Managers, Social Work Case Managers, Home Health Attendants and Homemakers.

REFERRALS

Referrals to the AIDS Case Management program come from public and private health practitioners as well as other social service providers. Eligible clients are considered regardless of ability to pay or immigration status.
